

What should I already know?

- That Mexican sculptor Angela Gurria, is known for her large abstract sculptures using rocks like limestone, volcanic rock and marble, but also iron and steel.
- How to make an abstract sculpture using natural materials such as rocks, sticks, leaves and stones
- How to use clay to create a plant pot

What will I know by the end of the unit?

- Know that sculpture is an art form in three-dimensions.
- Know that materials can be carved, cast, modelled and constructed to create a sculpture.
- Know that Roman sculptures were meant to look realistic, although stylised, and were used to honour important people at the time
- Know how to make my own Romanesque bust

Vocabulary

bust
Stone
Metal
Clay
wood Sculpture
Terracotta
Marble
copper
Carve
Cast
Model
Construct Sculpture

What skills will I have developed?

- Design – use photos of real sculptures to create own design;
- Manipulating clay: rolling, pinching, indenting

