

What's happening in the news this week?

Penguin Random House UK, Colin Wright

Let's have a look at this week's poster!

30th September - 6th October 2024

How important is it to know about the author behind the book?

Let's look at this week's story

Book publishing company, Penguin Random House UK, has revealed a new book vending machine at Linlithgow Academy, near Edinburgh, Scotland. The machine gives the pupils access to more than seventy different books from Penguin's 'Lit in Colour' reading lists. The reading lists, set up around four years ago, are updated each year and aim to make works by writers of colour more visible and accessible in schools.

Learn more about this week's story here.
Watch this week's useful video here.
This week's Virtual Picture News here.

How does it make me feel?

sad

despondent disconsolate dismal doleful downhearted forlorn gloomy melancholic miserable woeful wretched

angry

aggrieved annoyed discontented disgruntled distressed exasperated frustrated indignant offended outraged resentful vexed

happy

beaming buoyant cheery contented delighted enraptured gleeful glowing joyful

confused

addled baffled bemused bewildered disorientated indistinct muddled mystified perplexed puzzled

excited

animated elevated enlivened enthusiastic exhilarated
exuberant thrilled

worried

agitated anxious apprehensive
concerned disquieted distraught distressed
disturbed fretful perturbed troubled uneasy

overwhelmed

engulfed inundated overburdened overloaded saturated submerged swamped

afraid

alarmed apprehensive
daunted fearful frantic horrified petrified terrified

guilty

ashamed compunctious contrite culpable penitent responsible rueful

jealous

bitter covetous desirous envious envying resentful wary

thankful

appreciative grateful gratified indebted obliged relieved

shocked astonished astounded disconcerted

distressed
dumbfounded horrified staggered startled stunned surprised

disgusted

affronted appalled horrified repelled repulsed revolted sickened

inspired activated encouraged exhilarated galvanised influenced motivated

embarrassed

ashamed awkward chagrined demeaned discomposd humiliated self-conscious uncomfortable uneasy
unsettled

interested

absorbed captivated curious engaged enthralled fascinated gripped intrigued riveted

This week's story looks at events related to ...

Read through the information below.

What is the 'Lit in Colour' campaign?

The Lit in Colour campaign was launched by Penguin Books UK and Runnymede Trust in September 2020. Its goal is finding innovative and practical ways to 'give schools the support and tools they need to introduce more books by people of colour into the classroom, for all ages'.

Jackie Kay, a former poet laureate of Scotland, by the book vending machine at Linlithgow Academy.

Image: Penguin Random House UK, Colin Wright.

Books create belonging. They help us see each other and understand one another. They shine a light on the world. It's vital that the books we read in our formative years reflect the rich diversity of the society we live in.

Penguin Random House, UK (the organisation behind the Lit in Colour campaign).

What is the new book vending machine?

The new vending machine, installed over the summer, is part of the Lit in Colour campaign.

The machine is full of books donated by publishers, including Penguin, and written by authors of colour, allowing pupils to discover new authors and books.

Do you think the Lit in Colour campaign is a good idea?
What impact do you think it might have?

Look at the resource below, which shares some information about Black History Month and its origins.

When and how did Black History Month start in the UK?

Black History Month started in the UK in October 1987, inspired by the celebration in the United States, which first took place in February 1926.

A man named Akyaba Addai-Sebo, who came to the UK from Ghana as a refugee, helped introduce Black History Month as a way for everyone to learn about, share and celebrate important things Black people have done that have shaped the UK and the wider world.

The month was established to address the lack of recognition of Black people in the UK's history and to enable Black British people to share their cultural heritage and histories with others.

OCT

Is there a theme?

Each year, the month has a different theme to focus on. This year the theme is 'Reclaiming Narratives', which is all about telling and hearing stories from different perspectives.

What are the key goals of Black History Month?

Learn about and celebrate Black history and culture.

Highlight the achievements of Black people in fields such as science, politics, the arts, and beyond.

Understand and respect the experiences of Black people, be kind to each other, and stand up against discrimination.

Have you celebrated Black History Month before?
Share your knowledge and experiences.

Resource
two

Look at the resource below, which shares some information about the theme for Black History Month 2024.

In the UK, Black History Month happens every October. It provides an opportunity for people to understand, share and celebrate the history of Black heritage and culture and its impact today.

Reclaiming Narratives is your opportunity to contribute to a collective effort to reshape how Black history is perceived and taught. By participating, you can help ensure that future generations grow up with a richer, more accurate understanding of Black history.

www.blackhistorymonth.org.uk

Black History Month 2024

History is built on facts, but often the person telling it shares their perspective and their interpretation, so it is told through their lens. It may be a social or political lens, and more often than not, the victors or people in positions of power tell the story and write history.

The theme for Black History Month 2024 is 'Reclaiming Narratives'. It is an invitation to all people of the Black community to take ownership of the stories being told, to recognise and correct the narratives of Black history and culture, and to shine a light on the contributions and achievements of Black individuals, who have often been overlooked.

Have you ever considered who writes history? Can you imagine how it might feel to not share your story or have your achievements recognised?

Reflection

People choose to write books for many different reasons. We can learn a lot from researching about the person behind the book, such as why they wrote it, and sometimes, the impact or legacy they'd like it to leave.

Mutual Respect & Tolerance

Life is not the same for everyone. By listening carefully to the stories of others, we can understand and get to know one another better.

Protected Characteristics

The stories of Black people have been oversimplified or overlooked in the past. We should always support others to tell their own stories, whatever their race.

UN Rights of the Child

Children have the right to share their thoughts and experiences freely. Governments must support this freedom of expression for children of all races.

Useful vocabulary

Blurb

A short description or summary of a book, usually found on the back cover.

Is it to do with the cover, the blurb, the author, something else?

Formative

Something that helps shape or influence the way a person grows and develops.

It's vital that the books we read in our formative years reflect the rich diversity of the society we live in.

Innovative

Using new and creative ideas to do something in a better or different way.

Its goal is finding innovative and practical ways to, 'give schools the support and tools they need [...]'.
[...].

Legacy

Something that a person or group leaves behind after they are gone that continue to influence or impact others.

[...] the impact or legacy they'd like it to leave.

Poet laureate

An official poet chosen by a country, state, or city to write poems for special events and occasions.

Jackie Kay, a former poet laureate of Scotland, by the book vending machine at Linlithgow Academy.

Vital

Very important or necessary.

It's vital that the books we read in our formative years reflect the rich diversity of the society we live in.

Can you use them in your writing this week?

Plant Packaging

Companies around the world are working hard to find new ways to reduce plastic waste, and one exciting solution is eco-friendly packaging made from plants! This special packaging can be made from materials like seaweed, cornstarch, or even mushrooms, and it helps keep the planet clean by breaking down quickly in nature. One company, Notpla (short for 'not plastic'), has developed packaging from seaweed that could replace the plastic we use for wrapping food. This eco-friendly packaging is not only biodegradable, but it's also safe to eat! Dr Mark Miodownik, a scientist at University College

Pictured: Seaweed growing underwater.
Source: Canva.

London, says, 'These innovations give us hope for a more sustainable future.' By using these smart alternatives, we can help protect animals, oceans, and our planet from plastic pollution. Experts believe that more and more businesses will start using eco-friendly packaging in the future, which is a big step towards a cleaner, healthier world!

Robo-Scientist!

Exciting news from Africa—scientists are using a robot to help protect endangered animals! This special robot can move around safely without disturbing wildlife, allowing scientists to study animals up close. The robot has cameras and sensors that help it watch over animals like rhinos and elephants, which are often targeted by poachers. Poachers are people who hunt endangered animals illegally, and scientists hope this robot will help stop them. One of the scientists working on the project said, 'The robot is like an extra pair of eyes that can keep track of animals and send us important information about where they are and what they need.' This smart robot is already helping conservationists learn more about how to protect endangered animals and keep them safe in the wild.

Pictured: A rhinoceros and her calf.
Source: Canva.

How can photos shape the world?

Photos can show us the inner beauty of the world that the human eye alone may never see.

Chloe S, 10

Let us know what you think about this week's news

picture-news.co.uk/discuss

help@picture-news.co.uk

@HelpPicture

Crazy Cars!

A very special car museum in Hyderabad, India, has been awarded the world record for the largest collection of wacky vehicles in a museum! Car designer, Sudhakar Kanyaboyina, is fulfilling his childhood dream of hand making fully-working custom cars, designed to look like everyday objects. The museum houses 57 individual vehicles, including a vintage computer, shoe, camera, stiletto, hamburger, handbag, chessboard, wedding dress, sofa, snooker table, cricket bat, many sports balls, and even a toilet! As you might expect, Sudhakar's desk at the museum is also a car!

Pictured: Several of the custom cars at Sudha Cars Museum.

Source: Guinness World Records on YouTube.

He is working towards having 100 cars for people to go and see. 'What I love most about my work is the attention to detail on each car. I find immense joy in meticulously crafting and perfecting every aspect of my designs, ensuring each vehicle is unique and according to the object we are trying to replicate,' explained Sudhakar. 'I still feel as excited as a young child when I'm working on a new car. That same enthusiasm still drives me!'

If you were to create a custom car, what object would you choose to base it on?

Pictured: The shuttlecock car.

Source: Guinness World Records, on YouTube.

Community Conservation

Community members in New Orleans have turned a vacant, rubbish-filled 40-acre area into a thriving wetland and haven for people and birds. Local residents are working together with the Sankofa Community Development Corporation (SCDC), which was set up by Rashida Ferdinand, to restore the wildlands she grew up exploring and playing in. The area that had suffered, due to decades of damage and neglect, has been restored to its previous natural glory and is now officially known as the Sankofa Wetland Park and Nature Trail. Wildlife has returned to the site, with the SCDC reporting that there are now over 100 species of songbirds, ducks, near-shore waders, egrets, herons, otters, beavers, and a variety of amphibians and reptiles. It is hoped that restoring the wetlands will also help to protect the residents and their properties, as they are known for their ability to absorb stormwater. Rashida said, 'Seeing butterflies, birds, and other pollinators in the park is a sign of a healthy ecosystem. All we had to do was create the right conditions.'

Pictured: A Painted Bunting bird can be seen at Sankofa Wetland Park and Nature Trail.

Source: Canva.

Do you enjoy bird watching?

Are there any community areas close to you?

How can photos shape the world?

I think pictures help to raise awareness, not just what's in the picture, but the story behind the picture.

Ethon

Let us know what you think about this week's news

picture-news.co.uk/discuss

help@picture-news.co.uk

@HelpPicture

TAKEHOME

30th September
- 6th October

Penguin Random House UK, Colin Wright

How important is it to know about the author behind the book?

Penguin Random House UK, Colin Wright

In the news this week

Book publishing company, Penguin Random House UK, has revealed a new book vending machine at Linlithgow Academy, near Edinburgh, Scotland. The machine gives the pupils access to more than seventy different books from Penguin's 'Lit in Colour' reading lists. The reading lists, set up around four years ago, are updated each year and aim to make works by writers of colour more visible and accessible in schools.

Things to talk about at home ...

- > Would you like to see a book vending machine in school? Do you think it would be popular?
- > What types of books do you like to read, and who are some of your favourite authors? Ask others at home about their reading preferences.
- > Do you feel it's important to know about the author of a book you read? Is it important to you to read books by authors from different backgrounds and with different experiences? What do others at home think?

Please note any interesting thoughts or comments

Share your thoughts and read the opinions of others www.picture-news.co.uk/discuss

